FLOOR DEBATE

April 10, 2006      LB 745

SENATOR CHAMBERS:      Jockeys are little fellows, more or less, aren't they?

SENATOR JANSSEN:      Well, yeah. More like...

SENATOR CHAMBERS:      They don't eat very much either, do they?

SENATOR JANSSEN:      Well, they can't.

SENATOR CHAMBERS:      Right. So we're not going to get much...oh, and they don't pay taxes on food anyway, right?

SENATOR JANSSEN:      That's correct.

SENATOR CHAMBERS:      What does a jockey spend most of his money on then that would derive tax for the state?

SENATOR JANSSEN:      Well, I suppose they...if he is...if they are a very good jockey, they probably buy a pretty expensive car, clothing.

SENATOR CHAMBERS:      Well, but he could ride...he could buy a go-cart, couldn't he, as little as he is, couldn't he?

SENATOR JANSSEN:      Oh, I don't think they make the Crosleys anymore, Senator.

SENATOR CHAMBERS:      What kind of car would a jockey buy, those that you know of?

SENATOR JANSSEN:      Well, the ones that are very successful probably drive Lincolns and Cadillacs.

SENATOR CHAMBERS:      Have you see them?

SENATOR JANSSEN:      Those particular jockeys? Yes, I've watched them.

SENATOR CHAMBERS:      Driving Cadillacs?

SENATOR JANSSEN:      Well,...
